All ages can get close up and personal with a variety of instruments - examine the visible elements and even look into the deeper recesses and learn to play some basics. While in the Artist Hall(way), the Original Dulcimer Club, and in the Media Center Rene Meave will hold workshops.

In addition, there will be performances by the Serita's Black Rose Duo, Great Lakes Brass, and The Whateverly Brothers. Hopkins Schools going all out to get bond approved

By Joseph Schultz

Although the upcoming millage request was not officially on the agenda, it remained a prominent topic during Monday night's Hopkins School Board meeting. Held at Sycamore Elementary in Dorr, the meeting room featured posters displaying details about the proposal.

The bond request, which goes before voters on May 5th, aims to fund safety and security improvements for the elementary and high schools, replace the current middle school, and construct a new Performing Arts Center.

Approval of the millage request will not increase the tax rate from the 2025 millage rate. However, a rejection of the request will allow the millage rate to drop once the current bond has been paid.

During the Superintendent's report, Scott VanBonn told the board that postcards are being mailed this week to all district voters. Absentee ballots will start going out next week.

Townships seek hot meal reinstatement

By John Raffel
Correspondent

ALLEGAN — Following the Allegan County Board of Commissioner's vote last month to award the county millage taxpayer funded senior meals program to a Kent County organization when the current contract expires March 31, the Gun Plain and Otsego Townships Boards of Trustees passed a resolution urging the Commissioners to continue the proven 20-year relationship with Community Action of Allegan County(CAAC).

Former commission chair James Storey said the Commissioners chose to use the Allegan voters' millage money to contract frozen TV dinner-type meal delivery one to three times a week with Meals on Wheels of Western Michigan in Kent County.

The townships' resolution cites the benefits of the CAAC's hot meals service: "Such a program provides daily wellness checks and offers peace of mind for seniors and their families and social contact through daily delivery, reducing isolation, and promoting community connection."

The townships called out the Commissioners for the "the hasty action to dissolve its relationship with CAAC provided no announced plan to fill the gap in hot and cold meal choice and daily wellness services to homebound seniors," Storey said.

The change resulted from responses to a request for proposal (RFP) issued by the county that had been partial drafted by a member of the Meals on Wheels (MOW) Board of Directors who concurrently serves on the county's Commission on Aging (COA).

Despite county statements that the COA had vetted the RFP, it was never presented to the full COA for review before it was issued. MOW and Allegan Community Action responded to the RFP. When the recommendation by the COA discreet committee came to the COA for consideration, it did not include a scoring of the two agency's responses. It appears the only consideration was cost: with the MOW's 1-3 times weekly TV dinner proposal without wellness checks costing less than the current successful program of 5 times a week hot meals and access to ten supportive services through the CAAC .

"Since the Commissioners voted and in response to the absence of wellness checking five times a week in the MO W proposal, county staff indicated they have talked about a wellness program that will be a cost in addition to whatever it will pay MOW for its TV dinner program," Storey said. "Seniors and their care givers now receiving the CAAC's hot meals sent more than 50 comments of concern about the cut.

Anita from Pullman wrote "...daily meals from (CAAC) is my only real source of having one balanced meal daily. I am bedridden and can no longer shop or cook for myself. Nell wrote "I enjoy the hot meals. Without the hot meals every day sometimes I'm not sure what I would do.?

Neil's son added "When I'm at work, it (hot meals 5x a week), helps her a lot because she has dementia and forgets how to use the oven and even sometimes the microwave."

Linda wrote: "I have multiple sclerosis diagnosed 56 years ago. My life is very difficult. I would like to have meals fresh and not frozen."

Fred and Candice wrote "My husband has dementia. We are homebound. We had an emergency where I needed an ambulance. Meal delivery came and Faith (meal driver} made sure my husband was cared for."

Wayland students share Anne Frank's story

By Joseph Schultz

The Wayland community had a profound and moving experience Thursday night at the "Anne Frank: A History for Today" Community Night Presentation. The exhibit, hosted by the Anne Frank Center at the University of South Carolina, featured Wayland Union 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th-grade students explaining each display.

Holocaust educator Corey Harbaugh, of the Anne Frank Center, explained to the more than 80 attendees that the students were taught about the holocaust and the Frank family, they would not be following a script. Harbaugh noted that the exhibit would be unique that way because the students would provide their own perspectives on the history they had learned.

"History never ends," Harbaugh told the participating students. The event was particularly poignant for Harbaugh, given the attack at a West Bloomfield synagogue earlier in the day.

At the start of the displays, one poster featured family photos of Anne Frank and her family, while another poster displayed photos of the rise of the Nazis and Adolf Hitler. Toward the end of the displays, the family photos were gone, replaced with images of the Secret Annex, and the concentration camps.

At each exhibit, the students did an amazing job describing the photos and the events that took place. It was a demonstration of student leadership that Wayland Union Schools should be proud of.

Attendees also viewed the short film called The Ice Cream Man. The film tells the story Ernst Cahn, a little-known hero of the resistance against the Nazis in Amsterdam.

This exhibit was made possible because a generous donor saw the presentation last year in Kalamazoo and wanted to bring it to schoolchildren in West Michigan. Allegan became the first county in the country to have Anne Frank's story offered to every school district.

Harbaugh, who has ties to West Michigan, reached out to his friend Teresa Fulk about the exhibit. Fulk, who is the Assistant Superintendent of Instructional Services at Wayland Union Schools, jumped at the opportunity to bring the Anne Frank exhibit to Wayland. She worked with the Allegan County Community Foundation and the Allegan Area ESA to make the event happen.

The "Anne Frank: A History for Today" event will be presented again on March 25th at 7:00pm. It will be held at the Wayland Union Schools Administration Building. The event is free to the public.

The evening offers participants a chance to experience appetizers, a variety of soups, and desserts donated by: Root Café, Crane's Pie Pantry, Salt of the Earth, Farmhouse Deli, Happystance, What Not Inn, The Little Store, Iggy's, Chicken Scratch Farm, Café Julia, Beechwood Grill, Borrowed Time, Virtue Cider, South Haven Creations, Lise Catering & Publishing, Pennyroyal Café & Provisions, and Cookies-on-Call.

Ivan is Ugandan born, and a Christian Jazz theologian and music craftsman. His music is anchored in African music traditions with rich melodies and rhythms found in almost all music of the world. Ben is a Chicago born saxophonist, composer and educator living and working in Chicago and Northwest Indiana while performing often in southwest Michigan with Ivan.

The handcrafted pottery bowls were created by Fennville High School students and local potters. The bowls will be on display during the event, and each diner will be privileged to select one to take home. The bowl project was funded by the Fennville Educational Foundation.

The event has been organized by the Fennville Women's Club with support from the Fennville DDA, the Fennville High School Art Department, and Ladders of Hope volunteers.

"We are excited to see so many organizations, businesses, students, and people donate their time, talent and space to this event. This event would not be possible without their generosity," stated Dawn Soltysiak, owner of Root Café. "I love that about this area. People really do care about each other."

Tickets are available at Root Café, Cranes' Pie Pantry, Fennville City Hall, Fennville District Library, texting 269-348-5909, or at the door.

Art of Allegan draws enthusiasts of The Arts

By Gari Voss

A scene from Scoundrels and Heroes that will open on Thurs., March 19th with performances through Sun., Mar. 22nd on the Griswold Stage was part of the opening acts for the film Loving Vincent during the Art of Allegan fundraiser on Sat., Mar. 14, 2026. The inaugural Art of Allegan fundraiser for the Griswold Auditorium brought enthusiasts interested in The Arts to Allegan on Saturday, March 14, 2026. Those interested in visual art techniques, pottery, living plants creations, soft material designs, and the performing arts learned about and/or improved their knowledge and skills.

The day began at 10am. Those arriving could browse the many donations to the Silent Auction and make their way to the Banquet Room on the lower level where artists displayed their work and the workshops were being held.

Local artists offered workshops where participants could take home their creations. Lori Hibma from Cottage Arts & Eats guided full classes through fused glass at 10am and 2pm, Mary Clare shared paint workshops at 10am and 2pm, while Joy Richmond encouraged guests through techniques in watercolors at 10am to 2pm.

To round out the offerings at the Griswold, Stacey Butler and Barri Rosenbluth gave an introduction to Gelli Printing at 10am, and Rebecca Frick Butler conducted a Gouache Painting class at 2pm.

While the lower level was busy with classes, local art-related businesses around Allegan offered Drop-in DIY Art Projects. The Sassy Olive helped participants in creating shirt art. Essenburg Art allowed guests to do glazing and offered special items which featured the Old Iron Bridge. Eccentric Garden furnished materials for making an Art of Allegan Terrarium with a picture depicting Allegan's icons along the far side and lovely succulents were added by the plant artist.

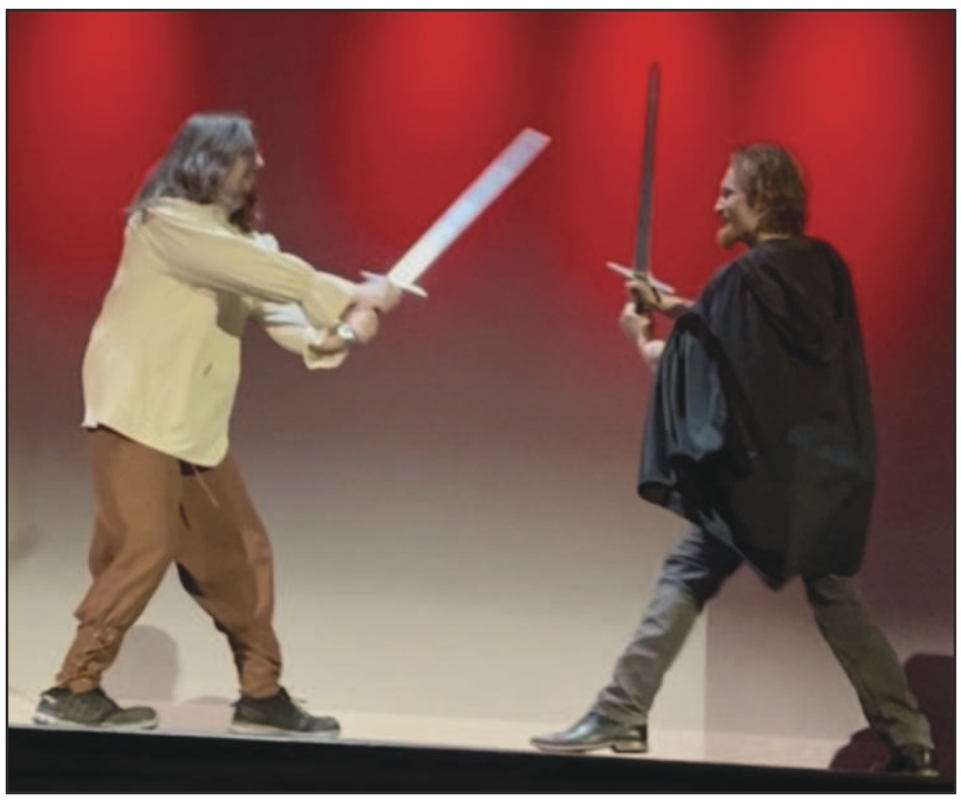
The highlight of the day was the Behind the Scenes Tour of the Griswold Auditorium from top to bottom. Erin Dye researched the grand lady of a structure and called upon Manager Ryan Burza as she investigated rooms and tiny doors for the organized tours. Her discoveries were unveiled to the groups who were willing to climb stairs and look inside the workings of the structure.

The day was capped off with live entertainment by the Allegan Community Players for whom the Griswold Auditorium was built and dedicated, and the showing of the film Loving Vincent. The film was a fascinating short that revealed the life of Vincent VanGogh. The uniqueness of this film is that it was created solely through a myriad of paintings which depicted people and actions while unveiling the development of VanGogh's talent and creations from his childhood to his untimely death.

It was VanGogh's painting of Starry Night that inspired Paulette Carr to create the picture of Allegan's Starry Night. The original was part of the Silent Auction, but copies can be purchased at the Allegan City Hall. Woven in the Allegan Starry Night are images of the Iron Bridge, Griswold Auditorium, and other Allegan icons.

The overall theme of the Art of Allegan Fundraiser was to introduce, or reintroduce, the public to the beauty and needs of this Allegan landmark. The generosity of Marilla Griswold, who used the proceeds from her timber company to make improvements to Allegan, had the facility built with the Allegan Community Players and other performing arts groups in mind.

Currently, almost 100 years later, those interested in the Arts are asked to contribute to the maintenance and improvements of the structure and welcome entertainment groups to grace the stage. Therefore, all proceeds from the fundraiser will be utilized to perform the updates that will assist theater and music goers enjoy live performances and gatherings for another 100 years.



Wyatt Tussey and Exavier Paris demonstrated sword fighting techniques that will be used during the Allegan Community Players production of Heroes and Scoundrels that opens Thurs., Mar. 19th with performances through Sun., Mar. 22nd at the Griswold Auditorium. Tickets are available at https://alleganplayers.ludus.com/index.php.

Special thanks are sent to the participating artists and art businesses around the city of Allegan along with Allegan County Community Foundation, A-Tech Computer Solutions, Brave Art Studios & Gallery, Smurfit Westrock, Tibbitts Financial Consulting, Coldwell Banker Sneller Real Estate, Country House Furniture, Tantrick Brewing & Stillhouse, The Lynx Golf Course, and Odd Bird Art & Desing.

In addition to the businesses that hosted art activities on Saturday, Avolio Glasswerks set up their display inside Tantrick Brewing, and Allegan Floral & Gifts will be donating 10% of their March sales to the Griswold Art of Allegan.

It is not too late to make donations to benefit the Griswold Fundraiser. Contributions can be made to https://givebutter.com/NsVRsE or to the Marilla Griswold Designated Endowment Fund with ACCF https://allegan.fcsuite.com/erp/donate/create/fund?funit_id=1038.

Fennville seeks coordinator to bring beloved Goose Festival back in 2026

By Art Nicholas

After a year away, the Fennville Goose Festival may be ready to take flight again — and the city's Downtown Development Authority is looking for the right person to make it happen.

The Fennville DDA has posted a paid, part-time position for a Goose Festival Coordinator, a stipend-based role that will be responsible for planning and executing the festival's return this October. The position pays $7,500 for a minimum of 300 hours of work, with the festival scheduled for the weekend of October 9-11.

The Goose Festival has been an annual tradition in the Fennville community since 1985, rooted in the autumn migration of Canada geese through the area. What began as a single-day event grew into a four-day celebration featuring a parade, live music, arts and crafts, food vendors, carnival rides, and nature tours of the nearby Allegan State Game Area.

But last year, the festival went quiet. Long-time volunteers had stepped back after giving a decade or more of their lives to the event, and with few new volunteers emerging to take their place, the festival's future came into question. City staff, already stretched thin, said they simply didn't have the capacity to produce the quality event the community deserved.

Now, city leaders are taking a new approach — hiring a dedicated coordinator to rebuild the infrastructure the festival needs.

According to the job posting, the Goose Festival Coordinator will recruit and manage volunteers, oversee overall event planning, handle communications with craft fair participants and vendors, manage social media and promotional materials, and work to secure private sponsorships. The position is hybrid, with office space available at City Hall, and the schedule is largely flexible — except for the festival weekend itself, which the posting lists as non-negotiable.

For longtime residents, the return of Goose Fest can't come soon enough.

"My family and I attended Goose Fest essentially every year — it's been a very good mark on my life growing up," said Seth Wright, a longtime Fennville-area resident. "In my later years I've volunteered as boundary security, and the old coordinator team were some of the nicest people I've met. The festival has made a very wholesome impact on the entire township, putting an otherwise small town on the map."

That community spirit is precisely what makes events like this worth fighting to preserve, according to Dawn Soltysiak, an area resident and owner of Root Fernwood 1891.

"These types of festivals only happen with community volunteers," Soltysiak said. "It takes a village of people who care enough to give back their time to make it happen. And their efforts are appreciated by so many."

The DDA is looking for someone with strong communication and organizational skills, comfort with computers and online platforms, and ideally, experience managing social media. Graphic design skills are listed as a bonus. Applicants will not be eligible for City employee benefits, as the position is structured as stipend-based paid volunteering.

The festival has long served as a platform for local businesses and organizations, drawing visitors from across Michigan and beyond each fall. With a new coordinator at the helm and the community's enthusiasm still intact, organizers are hopeful 2026 can mark a fresh chapter for one of West Michigan's most enduring small-town traditions.

Interested applicants should send a resume and cover letter to sjacobs@fennville.gov.

Speculators, not war are driving gas prices higher

MIKE'S MUSINGS

MIKE WILCOX
■ PUBLISHER ■

Every time Americans pull up to the pump, they're told the same story: gas prices are high because of global supply problems, geopolitical tensions, or refinery issues. Those factors certainly play a role. For instance the war with Iran has tightened worldwide supplies, but in reality here in America we get very little oil from Iran.

But there is another major force quietly pushing prices upward—speculators and commodity traders betting on the price of oil.

The price of gasoline in the United States is closely tied to the global price of crude oil, particularly benchmarks like West Texas Intermediate and Brent Crude. What many people don't realize is that these prices are not determined solely by how much oil is actually being produced or consumed. They are also heavily influenced by financial markets where traders buy and sell oil futures contracts—often with no intention of ever taking delivery of a single barrel.

These trades take place on exchanges such as the New York Mercantile Exchange, where billions of dollars move every day as investors speculate on where oil prices might go next. Hedge funds, large banks, and investment firms can pour enormous sums into these markets, driving prices up simply through betting activity. And when tensions breakout in the Middle East, you can bet investors push the price of oil upwards.

In theory, futures markets help stabilize prices by allowing producers and refiners to hedge against risk. In reality, the volume of speculative trading now dwarfs the amount of oil changing hands in the physical world. When investors believe oil prices will rise, they pile into the market, bidding up contracts. That higher paper price quickly filters down to the gasoline pump—even if actual supply hasn't changed much.

The result is a system where American consumers are paying prices influenced as much by Wall Street as by oil wells.

Consider this: global oil production often fluctuates only modestly, yet gasoline prices can swing wildly in a matter of weeks. A refinery outage or tensions in the Middle East might justify a temporary bump. But the magnitude of some price, like the hikes we are experiencing, spikes suggests something else is happening speculators amplifying every piece of news into a profit opportunity.

And because oil is traded globally, speculation doesn't just affect investors. It affects commuters, small businesses, truck drivers, and families trying to balance household budgets. I would say most all consumer goods are affected by the price of oil, hence we pay higher prices.

The irony is that the United States is now one of the world's largest energy producers. Thanks to domestic drilling and shale production, the country pumps millions of barrels per day. Yet Americans are still exposed to volatile prices driven by international markets and financial speculation.

Some policymakers have raised concerns before. The Commodity Futures Trading Commission, which regulates commodity markets, has periodically investigated excessive speculation and market manipulation. But enforcement and oversight have often lagged behind the explosion of financial trading in energy markets.

If we want more stable and fair fuel prices, policymakers should revisit limits on speculative positions in oil futures markets. Greater transparency and stricter oversight could help ensure these markets serve their original purpose—helping manage risk—not inflating costs for everyday Americans.

Gasoline is not a luxury. It is a necessity for millions of people who rely on their vehicles to get to work, take their kids to school, and keep businesses running.

When speculation adds dollars—not cents—to the price of a tank of gas, it's fair to ask whether the system is serving the public or simply enriching those betting on the next price spike.

Life as Performance Art

G CORWIN STOPPEL

Sometime in the 1970s my late wife Pat was hired to run an elder artists program for the City of Chicago. Her job was to recruit senior citizens to design and make art to be sold in places like Carson Pierie and Scott, Marshall Fields and other department stores. Proceeds would be returned to the artists.

It looked simple enough on paper: Recruit a couple hundred people, come up with designs, round up supplies, constantly encourage them, pitch the products to the stores and turn a profit.

Alas, it involved much paperwork, her lifelong nemesis. She hated it. She wanted to work with the artists, hold craft fairs to promote the department and connect with the stores. Instead, she and a handful of secretaries were pushing paper and filling out countless forms and reports.

Then, someone had the brainy idea that the department should buy a couple computers to make their easier. So they did. This involved the infamous dot matrix printers, and reams of computer paper. Pat had high hopes that once the secretaries became used to the devices, all would be well. Wrong.

Soon she and other department heads were getting directives from city hall that the new computers were underutilized because they could gather so much more information. With it came the first of many updates what more information should be gathered.

Before long, they needed more computers, more secretaries and more spending on what Pat called "useless paper" than on the artists.

The secretaries were happy because it meant job security. But when Pat had a sit-down with someone in city hall to discuss this, the person told her, "Well, we have the capacity to gather more information, so we think we fully utilize it."

Eventually she resigned to work as a designer and artist.

Collecting information about people has become big business. My first encounter with it came years ago when I went into Radio Shack to buy AAA batteries. The checkout clerk asked for my zip code. It wasn't because batteries were suddenly classified as a dangerous substance to be traced by the authorities; they just wanted my zip code.

When I told him I would give him those five numbers right after charcoal sprouts and battleships fly, he relented.

Today, we are constantly being invited and cajoled into giving up our personal information. I buy something at a chain store and the cashier wants me to join their club. All I have to do is fork over my name, address, telephone number, email address, and a few bits of data, and then I become a member. Enough is enough.

I like to have a bit of fun with it. I ask the person inviting me how often their club meets? How much are the annual dues? Is it for cocktails and light refreshments? Casual or formal attire?

Does the club have outings or vacations somewhere? Do we get monthly newsletters with cheerful stories about what my fellow members are doing with their lives? They aways reply with puzzled looks on their faces.

I'm suspicious because I'm sure the Big Box Chain just wants this information so they can make incessant robo calls or solicitations disturbing billions of electrons by filling my email boxes.

And then there are the really sneaky companies who, after putting me on hold for a few hours (time, at my age, I cannot afford to fritter away) insist I take a brief survey on the quality of their service at the end of our conversation. Around the holiday season I hung up on one surveyor, but they very persistently called back. When I hung up on them the second time, I think they got the message.

A few years a grocery chain was giving away memberships, complete with a little plastic bar-code fobs that could go on a keychain. In return, they wanted my information. Being something of an anarchist, I filled in my name as Richard M Nixon, with an address of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, in Washington DC. The company accepted it, and I got the discount on the limburger cheese. My guess is that there are a lot of us with the same name in their files.

Of course, all of this information is gathered for a reason. It might not be a good reason, but they all have their reasons. Some are topic secret, such as when our information is sold in bulk to someone else, the company gets more revenue. The second company can take all of that raw information, extract what it thinks might be good, and sells the rest of it on to someone else. That has to be good for the economy because everyone profits off your personal information.

If there is any good news in all of this, I am told that all of our personal information is carefully and securely stored "on the cloud." Now, this cloud is not something that floats around in the sky; it is one of many, many huge computer banks around the country. One of them is the pyramid building not far from the Gerald Ford Airport in Grand Rapids. Supposedly it is secure.

These facilities use a tremendous amount of electricity to keep purring 24/7, as well as more electricity for their cooling system. And, a lot of water, too, which is the explanation for why the water table is sinking. That leads straight to the next big problem of all this data-gathering. It is going to get even worse with each new additional "data center" which is the brains and power house behind AI.

It is putting a tremendous strain on our electricity plants and the 'grid'. So, here is the quiz: Want to guess who is stuck for the higher electricity rates? You got it the first time - it's mugs like you and me. You can be as thrifty as you like, but the cost per kilowatt hour is going to raise your month bill well into the future.

Barring that one super big solar flare that could knock out the electric grid and fry the cloud, (and if it does, this is not going to be a good thing for you and me) there is not much we can do. At best, we can only reduce a portion of this identity mining done by others.

Still, the real question is your comfort level about all of this snooping. It is reminiscent of the East German not-so secret police, the Stasi. They created dossiers on everyone, about their purchases, the people they met on the street, the books they read, and a lot more. This moving straight into "1984" is not my idea of fun and joy.

There are some things to retain a bit more of our privacy. For one thing, quit using credit and debit cards for most purchases. When you swipe, tap, or otherwise fiddle with your card in front of a reader, all of your personal information gets swept up. Supposedly, it is only kept for a few months, but I don't trust that. Years from now someone or some organization will know what you were buying and when, and from where. It could have implications.

An increasing number of people are putting there mobile devices into a Faraday pouch when they are away from home. It means that your phone is not tracking you from one cell tower to the next. For the slightly less paranoid, it means that you can't be distracted by your device while driving.

Over all, we all set our own parameters on how much information we want to give away or share with others. There is no reason for you to be paranoid, but just keep in mind that everyone is watching you.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Body cams- yes or no?

The debate over body cameras for all types of law enforcement personnel (local police, State, Federal, … National Guard) is a great idea. But that only addresses half of the current demonstration participants. The other half are the Non-Law Enforcement Persons (NLEP). To be fair and equitable, shouldn't all those involved in demonstrations have body cams?

Law enforcement persons are issued body cams and are responsible for their operation and maintenance. The body cam is part of their employment obligation and paid for with tax dollars. Law enforcement persons are screened, fingerprinted and photographed for identification. They also have unique identifying uniforms. Body cam videos are submitted for public review.

On the other hand, NLEP demonstrators have no body cams. To be fair and equitable, how about all NLEP demonstrators and official news media reporters be required to have body cams? All that would be needed is to have them register showing identification, fingerprinted and photographed just like law enforcement personnel. Funding would be provided by the groups, currently unknown, now paying for local or national demonstrations; uniforms not required. Body cam videos would be submitted for public review.

It's known that persons joining local demonstrations are coming from many places; NLEP are flown in, signs provided, … and news media alerted via internet encrypted computer internet message applications. Sounds mysterious too; communications coming from hidden sinister persons or companies wishing and acting with evil against the United States. Supporting these actions and enabling demonstration diversity are Sanctuary States, Cities and Towns. Even elected officials support demonstration diversity like the following: burning down buildings, driving over law enforcement personnel, smashing property, … assaulting anyone.

A brief history of Sanctuary Policies.

The creation of sanctuary status in the United States can be traced to the early 1980s, primarily as a response to refugees fleeing civil wars in countries like Guatemala and Salvador. This movement was rooted in religious philosophy providing protection to refugees. The faith-based Sanctuary Movement established this status advocating for the rights and safety of foreigners while ignoring U.S. immigration laws.

I'm wondering, could anyone use a Sanctuary Declaration? It seems what's needed is for those in charge to have a meeting take a vote for Sanctuary Status than announce this sanctuary position to the public, everyone. There is probably some written record of the vote needed but that's not a problem; just send out an email. Done and done. Apparently, any and all with a Sanctuary Declaration would be exempt from the following inconvenient laws:

State Taxes, Federal Taxes, Property Taxes, … ability to ignore speed limits, … or fill a shopping cart without paying.

A Sanctuary Declaration sounds really cool and religiously motivated too. Of course, a question remains, are Sanctuary Declarations legal, even Unconstitutional? We'll soon find out.

Iran is war of Trump's choice

To the editor:

Trump is at war with Iran. This is a war of choice—his choice—and it is illegal and unconstitutional. Trump considers our military to be his and his alone, free of any constraints, to use and abuse at his whim. With his war of choice, he has given over the lives of our service personnel to Benjamin Netanyahu, the embattled, corrupt leader of Israel. Previously, using US supplied bombs and munitions, Netanyahu destroyed countless lives and most of the buildings and infrastructure of Gaza, one of the most densely populated areas on Earth with an area about 20% the size of Allegan County. For years, Netanyahu has had the fever dream of a regime change war with Iran. Now, he has convinced Trump to step into what is headed to be a quagmire while passing on the cost of the operation to us, the United States taxpayers. The new Supreme Leader of Iran, the son of the man Israeli pilots killed, is proving to be more hard line and resilient. Applying the same ratio of bombs per square foot used in Gaza to attempt changing Iran into a client state is a fantasy worthy of one of Pete Hegseth's juvenile war porn videos.

As citizens of the this country, We are paying for Trump's war of choice not only with our tax dollars, but also higher prices for gas and groceries. This could easily turn into another endless war. Trump might try to declare victory and walk away just as he has done before. Think about all his bankruptcies, the failed casinos, the "improved" Kennedy Center, the East Wing of our White House, our health care system and even the Constitution. He excels at destroying stuff but seems to have no ability to think through the consequences of that destruction. Iran has something to say about having its sovereignty violated. As we write this, its entrenched regime has taken control of the waterway which is used to transport 20% of the world's oil, with the apparent ability to maintain this blockade for an extended period of time.This has serious economic consequences not just for the U.S. and competitors like China, but for our traditional allies as well. Many are abandoning the decades long agreements and understandings we have had with them. Italy and France are negotiating directly with Iran to allow safe passage of ships bound for their ports through the Straits of Hormuz. Trump left the negotiations with Iran hours before he ordered the bombs to fall because the pace of the negotiations "didn't thrill me." Seeing our service members come home in boxes doesn't thrill us.

A recent email arrived from our own hired hand to Congress, Bill Huizenga. As self-serving as ever, he touts how he is supporting Trump's War of Choice. He gives the excuse that Trump must have the "flexibility to confront those who attack us." What? Who attacked who? We hired Mr. Huizenga to represent us in Congress, not to rubber-stamp another dangerous hare-brained presidential scheme. He and the rest of the Republicans in Congress have abdicated their responsibility of overseeing the President. They ignore both history and the law. The U.S. Constitution grants Congress the exclusive power to declare war, as stated in Article I, Section 8, Clause 11. Our founders designed this to ensure any decision to go to war (as opposed to an emergency defensive operation) would involve the legislative branch. Our direct representatives are there to provide a check on the President's military powers. Now Congress has ceded its authority to a wannabe dictator. If Huizenga and his allies don't want the jobs they were hired to do, they need to seek employment elsewhere.

Leighton planners discuss storage facility, cell tower

By Joseph Schultz

How much is too much? That was the question that was considered at the Leighton Township Planning Meeting Wednesday night. At issue was a request from residents Scott and Linda Oshinski to build a 5,000 square foot detached accessory building on their property. The square footage of the barn exceeded what was permitted by the zoning ordinance.

Chairman Ben Potts became troubled about the request when he noticed that the applicants already owned a barn on the property. The two barns would put the square footage well over what was deemed reasonable by the township.

Commissioner John Hooker pointed out that the barn that is owned by the Oshinski's is on a separate parcel. Potts responded that if they were to combine the parcels, it would be a problem. "Why have a rule if we're not going to follow it?" Potts asked the commission.

A representative for the Oshinski's told the Planning Commission that the Oshinski's planned on selling that parcel, and using the proceeds of the sale to build the new barn.

Commissioners were not eager to approve the application with a promise of a sale, nor were they comfortable dictating the sale. The Planning Commission agreed to approve the request on the conditions that the owner did not combine the parcels together, and did not use the barns for commercial purposes.

Cell Tower Request

The Planning Commission also reviewed a request from Horvath Towers to construct a cell tower for Verizon Wireless, near the end of 138th Avenue and US 131. The cell tower will be a 140 foot single pole, within a 6 foot tall wooden fence.

Even though the tower is about a mile from Calkins Field, the FAA does not require lighting on a tower less that 200 feet high.

During the public comment section of the hearing, neighbor Madison Flashaar asked how the tower would affect property values. The Horvath representative told the commission that Verizon did property values studies on the towers and found that the property values tend to go up in value. Verizon concludes that people want cell phone coverage, and they will pay more for a home that has good coverage.

The Planning Commission approved the request, with the condition that the wooden fence will be maintained in good condition.

Fitness Center Request

Anchorline CrossFit fitness center had a request to operate a new fitness center at 4225 Morren Street. However, no one from Anchorline was in attendance at the planning meeting.

Commissioners had concerns about the fitness center having enough parking. With no one to answer their questions, and no one making public comment, commissioners decided the table the request until their questions could be satisfied.

Short-term Rental Ordinance

The Short-term Rental Ordinance that the commission drafted last month was sent to the township's attorney. The attorney is still reviewing the draft, but did comment that he did not think is was strict enough.

It was his recommendation that a cap on short-term rentals, and a special land use requirement be added to the the ordinance. Chairman Potts wanted to know the reasons why the attorney is recommending these restrictions.

The commission hopes to have a final draft and a public hearing on the ordinance by May or June of this year.

Schools, libraries gear up for Reading Month

By Gari Voss

Reading is an essential skill for success in life. March is Reading Month, and schools have found that even reluctant readers will sit with a comfort or therapy dog and practice their reading. Photo: archives

For those with children and grandchildren, on March 2nd, word may have come that it was Dr. Suess' Birthday. Those, especially in the elementary schools, may have been eating green eggs and ham or reading The Cat in the Hat or asking parents to read Go Dog Go! for the umpteenth time. But that was just the beginning of March Is Reading Month.

Schools and libraries gear up for the month by having reading contests. Students keep track of minutes of reading at home with signatures from parents. Staff members and/or principals set goals that if met will require the staff member or principal to do something outlandish… Sit in a rocking chair on the school roof and read for several hours, color their hair a color often on the purple or pink or orange pallet of the color spectrum, or sit while hair is shaved off completely, or have cream pies thrown at them…

For schools who applied for Reading Is Fundamental (RIF) funds, special RIF activities and distributions may occur. Some of these distributions may have been yoked to the Pizza Hut Reading Contest where students could earn personal pan pizzas for their reading efforts.

The overall goal is to develop a love for reading and get information from the printed page. The title March Is Reading Month neglects a component that is often forgotten in the arena of literacy… writing.

A familiar foundational literacy mantra states, "If I can think it, I can say it. If I can say it, I can write it. If I can write it, I can read it. If I can read what I write, others can read it, and I can read what others write."

Developing writing aligns with reading. Reading, beginning with reading aloud then reading silently, can develop fluent speaking skills and proper grammar. When reading, the flow of words and language begin to take root, and those patterns begin to emerge in speaking and writing.

Traveling back to the 1980s and 1990s, Hope College, Western Michigan University, and others encouraged K-12 schools to have Young Author Contests. Teachers worked with students on the writing process beginning with brainstorming, drafting, getting peer and teacher reviews, then rewriting until a final draft was achieved. Schools held local competitions and gave awards.

Troops of actors would ask schools for some of their best stories. The actors would review the stories then come to the schools. The author of a story was asked to sit in the "writer's chair" while the thespians acted out the author's story. The young author was usually thrilled.

In addition, Intermediate School Districts and the universities or colleges would host Young Author Days. The top writers from area schools would gather either at an ISD or university and participate in a conference format. A published author would do a presentation in the auditorium. There would then be breakout sessions where the students would have hands-on activities on anything from creating illustrations to turning stories into songs to improving stories by enriching the vocabulary.

For students who attended the Young Author Day at a university, the result was multi-fold. The students would work on writing and thus, reading. In addition, they would be introduced to a university. A section of campus would become familiar, and there was lunch in a real university cafeteria.

March Is Reading Month is recognized in Lansing. "This March, and every month, we are reminded of the crucial role reading plays in our lives," said Governor Gretchen Whitmer. "Literacy is an ordinary superpower that every child deserves."

Students attending Pine Trails Elementary School will have a Book Fair and Literacy Night on March 26, 2026, from 5:30 – 6:30pm. This will be a culmination of reading challenges, guest readers, theme days, and book distributions. Other schools around the county will hold similar events.

Even before children reach kindergarten, they can sign for Dolly Parton's Imagination Library which is coordinated by the Allegan County Community Foundation (ACCF). The public can contribute to this fund at https://allegan.fcsuite.com/erp/donate/create/fund?funit_id=1210.

Many states, including Michigan, and schools, including those in Allegan County, have become more determined to improve reading skills because according to State tests, student reading scores have fallen over the years.

The governor and others are focusing on a solution by making Reading Month extend beyond March. "This March, and every day, I encourage every Michigander to visit a local library, show appreciation for teachers and librarians, and read. Let's keep working together to help every Michigander be a strong reader, writer, and communicator."

Remember the mantra: "If I can think it, I can say it. If I can say it, I can write it. If I can write it, I can read it. If I can read what I write, others can read it, and I can read what others write."

Heroes and Scoundrels

Working: The Musical

Thespians perform at two locations in Allegan

By Gari Voss

The stage at the Griswold Auditorium and at the Allegan High School Performing Arts Center will be lit with extremely talented thespians who will be weaving wonderful stories. The trick is to adjust schedules so as not to miss either production.

Heroes and Scoundrels

The "weekend" begins on Thursday, March 19, 2026, at 7:30 pm at the Griswold Auditorium, Hubbard Street. Heroes and Scoundrels, written by Spike Kunetz, and performed by members of the Allegan Community Players will unravel who is truly the villain or the hero. The "play" is really a collection of seven vignettes that explore the qualities of those labeled "hero" and "scoundrel".

"The play started off as a single short play, where there was a clear villain and a clear hero," began Kunetz. "But as I developed the piece, I began to recognize that these lines are not so clearly defined in real life. Things get messy when you take into account that humans are contradictory creatures: good people do bad things and bad people do good things. So, I wrote companion pieces to examine the different ways heroes and scoundrels get labeled—or mis-labeled."

Heroes and Scoundrels features four shows only at the Griswold Auditorium on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, March 19, 20, and 21 at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday, March 22 at 2:00 p.m. Tickets are $15 in advance, $20 at the door. Tickets can be purchased online at allegancommunityplayers.org. The play contains adult language and themes.

Working: The Musical

Across town in the Allegan High School Performing Arts Center, the high school drama students will present Working: The Musical that incorporates the history of Allegan into the storyline. The intent is to celebrate the many men and women of the Allegan community. The creative team spoke directly with local workers to gain insight into today's jobs and the local people who do them. These real-world narratives have been woven into the performance, ensuring that the stories on stage reflect the lived experiences of our neighbors.

"While the musical is based on Studs Terkel's factual book of interviews, we wanted to ensure that our production captures the specific pulse of our local workforce," explained director Kim Sparks. "By interviewing people in our own backyard, our cast and crew have been able to bring a deeper level of authenticity to these universal stories of the workers who keep our communities operating."

As the production unfolds, the audience will recognize people and places that have been instrumental in making Allegan the community it has grown to be.

Performances will be on Friday, March 20, 2026, at 7:00 PM, and on Saturday, March 21st, at 2:00 PM & 7:00 PM. The doors of the Allegan Performing Arts Center, 1560 M-40, Allegan, open 30 minutes prior to each performance for General Admission seating. To purchase online, visit the Drama page on the APS website, https://alleganps.org/drama/, or purchase them at the Door with cash, credit/debit card, or check.

Laketown attorney sends letter about odor issues

The attorney for Laketown Township sent a letter earlier this month to Republic Services pointing out the company's obligations regarding a composting operation that is the source for ongoing odor complaints.

On March 2, 2026, the attorney wrote, "It is critical that Republic address this matter promptly and effectively, as the status quo is not acceptable or sustainable."

Republic has received the correspondence, according to the township.

The letter is another way the township is working to eliminate the foul smells.

Adam Brent, CEO/Founder of Cocoa Corp., points out different material piles to Laketown Township officials at the composting site, 4368 60th St., on Thursday, Oct. 2, 2025.

Odor complaints

Residents have been complaining for the last 2 to 3 years about increased odors from Cocoa Corp., a composting operation on Republic's property, 4368 60th St. between the I-196 and U.S. 31 overpasses.

The owner of Cocoa Corp., Adam Brent, acknowledged strong odors do come from the composting material, especially when the windrows – large piles of compost material -- are turned, which they must be by state law five times in a 15-day period. The material is turned Monday through Friday between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. but not on weekends.

In the letter, the township attorney said the composting facility is allowed to operate due to planned unit development agreement approved by the township in 2015 that lists requirements and responsibilities of the operator.

In the 2015 documents, Cocoa said it would cover the compost piles. The piles have not been covered.

Documents also state Cocoa will "maintain reasonable conditions regarding emission and transmission of injurious or obnoxious noise, fire … smoke, dust, dirt, litter, odor … and other similar considerations having an effect on public safety, and general welfare of the people of the surrounding area."

If the composting operation complied with the 2015 documents, "the odor issue will be much improved if not eliminated," the township attorney wrote. "However, if the Republic composting operation is not in compliance with all of the relevant documents, Republic is in violation of its contractual obligations to the Township, as well as in violation of the Township's zoning ordinance. The Township has no intention of continuing to tolerate any such violations."

The attorney asked Republic to advise what actions it plans to take to be in compliance, "so that the Township can monitor the odor issue and decide what if any enforcement and other legal action it must take at this time to protect itself and its residents."

Reporting odors

Township officials toured the composting facility in October to see first-hand the source of the complaints. Township Manager Stephanie Fox has met with Republic, Cocoa and state officials about the issue.

The township has been directing complaints to the state Department of Environment, Great Lakes, and Energy which investigated the site over the summer at the request of Laketown Township.

EGLE investigated the site multiple times last year and no violations were noted.

To report an odor, record your address, the date of the smell, the time of the smell, the wind conditions and other relevant description such as whether it is a garbage-related odor or a compositing/organic odor so EGLE can identify a pattern and help determine if the source is the transfer station or the compost operation.

Send your complaint to office@laketowntwp.org. The township will dispatch a staff member to the site, pass the complaint on to EGLE, and to Republic Services and Cocoa.

Paving of dead-end street in Laketown Township put on hold

The Laketown Township Board of Trustees on Thursday, March 12, 2026, voted to pause paving a dead-end road due to financial concerns. The board had approved the paving of 61st Street north of 138th Avenue the week before for about $441,000.

The decision, though, came too late in one respect – the Allegan County Road Commission has already put the project out for bids with the bid opening set for April 1.

If bids come in over $441,000 then the board could abandon the project, Manager Stephanie Fox told the board in an email on Friday, March 13.

The next scheduled meeting of the board of trustees is 5 p.m. Wednesday, April 1, at the township hall, 4338 Beeline Road. The paving issue is planned for the agenda. Zoom is available.

Road background

The township in October approved paving the dead-end road, then in January voted to postpone the paving due to easement issues. A landowner did not want the road to encroach on their land. Holland Western Horse Park, 3856 61st St., which supports having the road paved, instead gave an easement to the road commission to realign the road so it can be paved.

On March 4, the board asked the Allegan County Road Commission to pave the 0.35-mile dirt road this year, setting the bid process in motion.

Bid documents

The bid documents and specifications are on the road commission website at www.alleganroads.org under "Projects & Bids," then choose "2026 Projects & Bids." The documents state:

The Laketown Township Board will address the issue of paving 61st Street north of 138th Avenue at its Wednesday, April 1, 2026, meeting.

"PROJECT NO. 400194 – 0.35 miles of roadway reconstruction including clearing, grade establishment, sand subbase, aggregate base, culvert replacements, hot mix asphalt paving, and restoration on 61st Street from 138th Avenue to 0.35 miles north in Laketown Township, Allegan County."

The engineering estimate dated March 13 puts the estimated total cost at $339,634.50.

Bid opening will be 11 a.m. April 1 at the road commission office, 1308 Lincoln Road, Allegan. It is open to the public.

March 12 meeting

At the March 12 meeting, a resident who has property adjoining the unpaved road addressed the board and said he was unaware beforehand of the board's March 4 decision and that spending $441,000 on the road is not in the best interest of the township.

Another property owner submitted a letter stating, "we do not believe the project is warranted given the limited function and use of the roadway."

A recording of the March 12 meeting is available at laketowntwp.org under "Boards and Commissions," and scroll to "Recordings of Meetings."

A 61st Street resident who has been at several meetings advocating for the paving, and representatives of Holland Western Horse Park who also supported paving, were not at the March 12 meeting. The topic of reconsidering the earlier paving decision was not on the agenda ahead of the meeting but was added after the meeting started.

The board does not normally meet on Thursdays. The special meeting was called so the board could vote on the 2026-2027 budget and the submission to the state for a grant to build stairs at Laketown Beach, and address any other issues that came before it.

Supervisor Steven Ringelberg voted against the paving at both March meetings, saying it's not good financially and there are safety concerns about people using the dead-end for illegal purposes.

Trustee Mark Timmerman and Treasurer Jim Johnson, who both supported the paving on March 4, voted March 12 to pause the work.

"This is strictly a financial thing with me," Timmerman said.

He asked the manager to get costs for maintaining the road as gravel.

The board encouraged residents with opinions about the possible paving to write to the township to express their feelings.

Comments can be emailed to office@laketowntwp.org.

Trustee Mike Koeman, who supported the paving on March 4, was not at the March 12 meeting. Clerk Jim Delaney was not at either meeting.

After deciding in January to postpone the paving work, the board asked the manager to coordinate with the road commission to provide snowplowing, grading and graveling of the unpaved road. The seasonal road is not plowed by the county.

In 2023, the township approved an updated road plan for work through 2030. To come up with the road plan, the township looked at the year the roads were last resurfaced, visually inspected the roads and used the Pavement Surface Evaluation and Rating (PASER) system. In the 2023 update, 61st Street was listed for reconstruction and pavement in 2026.

Leighton Twp approves $2.866 million budget

By David Young

Though Townbroadcast called it "The Year of Living Dangerously" for the 2025-26 fiscal year budget, the Leighton Township Board emerged unscathed in matters of money.

The board Thursday evening unveiled a fiscal year 2026-27 budget with $2.866 million in projected revenue and $2.71 million in expenses. This was a stark contrast with a budget adopted a year ago that showed a fund balance of a miniscule $203, or only 1 percent.

The almost $3 million in the current rainy day fund was distributed for other expenses, such as public safety, roads and the fire department, making the final leftover figure $92,005.

Supervisor Steve Wolbrink insisted Leighton was in no serious financial trouble.

In other business at Thursday night's meeting, the Township Board:

• Agreed to spend about $365,000 on repaving 2nd Street from 144th Avenue to 108th Avenue.

• Awarded the bids for mowing to Triple J for Hooker Cemetery and Potts Landscape Management for the remainder of township property.

• Agreed to continue to meet on the second Thursday of each month except in April (the 16th) because of spring break and February (the first Thursday) in fiscal year 2026-27.

• Learned that the Allegan County Road Commission's bill for graveling was about $12,500 less than budgeted, so it was decided to use it with the capital improvements and road funds to pay for the 2nd Street paving.

• Fielded a variety of comments from the audience about the poor job of grading on Ninth Street, which is plagued with lots of water a d deteriorating conditions.

• Approved payment of $3,100 for concrete repair at the entrance of the township library.

• Took no action on a request from Wayland Union Schools to help pay with $13,359 for a resource officer. The schools hired the officer two years ago, but the grant that launched the program dried up this year. Though no vote was taken, it appeared a majority of board members opposed the expenditure.

• Learned from Library Board representative Faith Miedema that the Township Library made $823 from its most recent book sale. That amount will be used to buy new books.

• Discussed, but took no action on the possibility of crafting an ordinance to regulate data centers, noting the troubles that have surfaced in neighboring Dorr Township.

• Approved the budgets for street lighting ($35,392), public safety ($777,785 for coverage from two Allegan County Sheriff's deputies) and Roads Fund ($350,000).

The MACC opens roundtables to support county endeavors

By Gari Voss

The Multi-Agency Collaborative Council (MACC) has been diligent in opening conversations between groups that work in a variety of fields addressing concerns across Allegan County. To continue their collaborative work, the MACC coordinators have scheduled a series of roundtables that span across 2026.

The MACC is focused on enhancing the quality of life of Allegan County residents by promoting, strengthening, and reinforcing collaboration and coordination among local organizations. No matter the service offered, MACC believes that the service can be best applied when all groups related to that service work together to meet the needs of those they serve.

The MACC agencies are grouped according to their services… Behavioral and Mental Health, Food Security, Access to Medical Care, and Healthy Housing. The organizations contributing to those fields can mark their calendars and plan on attending either in person at the Allegan County Community Foundation (ACCF) office or via Zoom.

The Behavioral and Mental Health groups will meet from 11am-12 noon on the 4th Tuesday of the odd months. Thus, March 24th, May 26th, July 28th, September 22nd and November 17th.

The Food Security groups will also meet on the 4th Tuesday of each month but from 2-3pm on March 24th, May 26th, July 28th, September 22nd and November 17th.

Those involved in improving Access to Medical Care will meet on the 4th Thursday of the odd months from 11am-12 noon. Those dates are March 26th, May 28th, July 23rd, September 24th, and November 19th.

Finally, Healthy Housing groups and agencies are scheduled for the 4th Thursday of each odd month but from 2-3pm - March 26th, May 28th, July 23rd, September 24th, and November 19th.

To register for each group roundtable, go to alleganfoundation.org/community-calendar and register. Registration will allow for preparations and to receive the Zoom Room address if attending online.

For additional information, contact info@alleganfoundation.org or 269-673-8344.

Faces in the Crowd

By G C Stoppel

This week's question: What are your thoughts about the war in Iran?

-Man near the Fennville hardware store: Shakes his head, "I don't know what to think. I'm rock solid behind our President, but this going to war, I don't know…."

-Another man, same location, "My dad was a Marine, I'm a Marine, my son is in the Marines right now. Trump is the Commander in Chief, so we're a family that obeys orders. I'm also bending God's ear asking him to bring him home safe and sound."

-Couple near the Blue Goose; Man: "Trump is a miserable, lying @#$%%&^. At that State of the Union message he said inflation was under control, prices were going down, groceries were cheaper, and gas was low. Then he turns around and ruins the*&U^T%TR$ economy like this!" Woman; "And he pretends he's the President of Peace!" He and his wife stormed off.

-Woman in front of the Fennville grocery store: "Trump? What you want to bet that the prices of groceries already went up because of him."

-Woman in front of the Allegan Public Library. "I don't know what to believe anymore. I'm sick to my stomach about it. All of it."

-Friend with her: "I keep thinking about all of the Americans and foreigners in the Middle East who can't get home. They and their families have to be so scared."

-Man near A-Tech: "Trump said we had to do it on account of Israel getting in there ahead of us, and then he said we had to hit Iran before they attacked us. Attack us with what? And then Hegseth, I think it was him, said someone was out to assassinate Trump. He can't even get his stories straight."

-Another man joining us, "I heard you talking, and I agree. Trump is a first class idiot surrounded by that Hegseth who looks like the sleaziest used car salesman you ever saw, and the rest of them. They're all sleazeballs in my book."

-Woman in front of the Huntington Bank: "My husband says he's doing it so he can cancel the elections in November. And, so he can have a military dictatorship. The country's ruined. I just pray to our heavenly father we can get it back."

-Man near Minnie's: "Me and my wife are so fed up with Trump we burned our MAGA flag AND my MAGA baseball cap. That's what we think of the situation. I thought he was going to do the country a lot of good, but he's done the opposite."

-Man near the Allegan City Hall: "It isn't news anymore. It's nothing but a big con job coming out of Washington. I don't trust a thing he says, and the only people he has around them are a lousy bunch of ass-kissers."

-Man near the Fennville Post Office: "I just heard this morning that the Iranians sent a top secret message that we intercepted, to all their so-called 'sleeper cells' to wake up and go to work. Most of them came through Venezuela, so I figure that's why we captured Venezuela, and why he's been shipping all the illegals back to where they came from. Makes me proud that we have a smart President for a change!"

City Council makes decisions on street issues

By David Young

The Wayland City Council Monday night made a couple of decisions about city streets.

One was a decision to pay about $22,000 for an infrared asphalt heater to help handle street pothole problems at the start of the season. City Manager Erik Wilson noted the perks conditions even in the downtown areas of Main and Superior streets.

So city employees with the Department of Public Works will be using the heated materials in hopes of better outcomes than the usual mill and fill process.

Another decision was approval of a budget amendment payment of a little more than $1.7 million for repaving Locust and Lorene streets, which will be the city's project this year. Oetman Construction of Moline has been hired to do the work.

In other business Monday night, the City Council:

Agreed to buy new police server for about $20,000 after hearing from Police Chief Scott Mattice, who reported the current device is on its last legs and soon could become totally dysfunctional.

Listened to a presentation from a representative from the Allegan County Commission on Aging urging support for continuing the offer of hot meals for the Meals on Wheels program rather than just the frozen meals. The County Board of Commissioners recently voted for the frozen meals in order to save money and time, but the rep. insisted, "We don't believe the issues was fairly assessed. The COA maintains the hot meals process allows drivers to do welfare checks on clients as well.

• Noted the council will have its regular meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, April 6, despite the fact it will come on the heels of spring break, which starts Monday, March 30.

Volunteer Fair opens opportunities for non-profits

By Gari Voss

On Thursday, March 19, 2026, from 12 to 2pm, everyone is invited to gather at The Silo, 1071 32 nd St. (M-40), Allegan, to meet representatives from non-profit organizations across Allegan County. This opportunity allows people of all ages to learn about non-profits that need volunteers and/or monetary donations.

The Volunteer Fair is yoked with Allegan County Gives 2026. Giving can come in the form of time, talent and/or treasure. For those who are able to volunteer time and talent, they can find a cause they value.

For those who are unable to pull away from busy schedules to share their time and talent, a monetary donation to a favorite cause would be greatly appreciated by any non-profit organization.

Allegan County Community Foundation hosts the Volunteer Fair and Allegan County Gives each year. For those who are not able to attend the gathering at The Silo, are invited to go to https://allegan.fcsuite.com/erp/donate/list to review the list of organizations and causes that continually support residents in Allegan County.

"Volunteering is a wonderful way to stay engaged, share your gifts, and continue making a positive impact in the community you care about," stated the ACCF team.

Non-profits are hoping individuals, families and friends will stop at The Silo to learn about ways they can assist residents across Allegan County.

community forums on the millage request March 18th and April 23rd. Additionally, board members will be on hand to distribute information this Saturday at the Easter Egg Hunt, taking place at Hopkins Elementary. Information will also be distributed at the upcoming school musicals.

Board members also plan to place "informational" signs in their yards. It was VanBonn's understanding that some concerned citizens were independently making and distributing some "Vote Yes" yard signs.

Attendance Improvements

VanBonn also presented to the board a program to improve the attendance of students. The focus shifts from total days absent to "Lost Learning Time" (LLT).

Under the new system, teachers will code attendance as absent, late, or tardy. When asked to clarify between "late" and "tardy", VanBonn admitted that the words are often used interchangeably. The distinction typically lies in the reason for the delay.

Wayland Union Schools has already switched to the attendance program this year. Hopkins Schools will start in the 2026-2027 school year.

Communication and Support Issues

During the public comment section, Jessica King - a Hopkins graduate and a 20-year elementary school teacher – expressed disappointment with the board over their lack of communication on the removal of an assessment tool. King also stated that teachers of kindergarten and 5-year-old students have seen a decrease in para-professional support over the last few years. According to King, many teachers are no longer excited about teaching, but are rather "counting down the days" to retirement.

Grants and Purchases Approved

The school board did approve $6,200 in student grant requests and authorized the purchase of a new walk-in cooler/freezer for the Food Service department, estimated between $61,000 and $65,000.

COMMUNITY SPOTLIGHT

Salute to Agriculture: Rooted in Allegan County

Across Allegan County, agriculture remains a cornerstone of both the local economy and way of life. From family farms to large-scale operations, the land continues to provide food, jobs, and a lasting connection to the county's heritage. Generations of farmers have worked these fields, shaping the landscape and sustaining the communities that surround them.

Agriculture in Allegan County is as diverse as it is vital. Row crops, dairy operations, orchards, and specialty farms all contribute to a strong and resilient agricultural sector. These operations not only supply food to local markets and beyond, but also support a wide network of businesses, including equipment suppliers, processors, transportation services, and retailers. The impact of agriculture reaches far beyond the farm gate and into nearly every corner of the local economy.

Farming is a profession built on hard work, patience, and adaptability. Long hours, unpredictable weather, and changing market conditions are all part of the job. Each season brings its own challenges, from spring planting to fall harvest, and success often depends on careful planning and a bit of good fortune. Even so, local farmers continue to meet these challenges with determination, combining time-tested practices with modern technology to keep their operations moving forward.

Beyond production, agriculture plays a meaningful role in community life. Farm families support local schools, churches, and events, and many take part in farmers markets and direct-to-consumer sales that connect residents with locally grown products. These interactions strengthen the bond between rural and urban communities, reminding us all of where our food comes from and the effort it takes to produce it.

Agriculture also represents opportunity for the next generation. Young people entering the field bring new ideas and energy, helping to carry forward a tradition that has defined Allegan County for decades. Whether continuing family operations or starting new ventures, they ensure that farming remains a vital and evolving part of the county's future.

At the Allegan County News, Commercial Record, and Union Enterprise, we proudly salute the farmers and agricultural workers who sustain our communities. Today, we recognize their dedication, resilience, and the essential role they play in feeding families and supporting local economies. Their work keeps Allegan County grounded, growing, and moving forward.

HOLLAND—After graduating from Otsego High School in the spring, senior Liam Smith will take his considerable aquatic talents to the University of Florida, where he'll embark on the next chapter of his swimming career.

Before then, though, he has some business to tend to at the MHSAA Division 3 Boys Swim & Dive State Finals on Saturday, March 14.

Smith won both the 200-yard IM (in a meet-record time of 1:47.38) and the 100 butterfly (47.8). Both of those times were good for automatic All-American honors.

But wait. There's more.

Because Smith was also part of Otsego's 400 freestyle relay team that finished eighth with a time of 3:17.57, giving him All-State honors in three events.

That performance—which earned Smith D3 Swimmer of the Meet for the second straight year—helped lift Otsego to ninth place in the team standings with 115 points.

Hamilton was 11th with 76 points, while Plainwell finished 13th with 68 points, Wayland placed 15th with 51 points and Allegan ended up 16 with 48 points.

Smith finished his high school career with seven state titles in the eight individual events he swam at the state finals. He was second in the other, which came during his freshman year.

"I have no idea what else to say about Liam Smith," Otsego coach Darryl Belton said. "He was named the D3 Swimmer of the Meet, made two All-American times, broke the state record in the 200 IM and won the 100 butterfly again. He's a seven-time champ. The last time someone won the 100 fly and wasn't named Liam Smith was in 2022."

Watching Smith compete in his final high school meet was a bittersweet experience for Belton.

"Obviously, I'm going to miss the swimmer, but I am going miss him, the person, 100 times more," Belton said. "Liam the person, captain, leader and teammate is even more of a champion than Liam Smith the swimmer. He is the whole package."

Joining Smith in earning All-State as members of Otsego's 400 free relay team were sophomore Liam Raseman junior Blake Guerrant and freshman Brayden Meyer.

"Blake missed a ton of time this year with both pneumonia and the flu," Belton said. "We got him back about three weeks ago. He worked overtime getting ready for this meet and he absolutely blew up.

"He swam personal best times and finished 17th in both the IM and fly. He anchored our medley relay team and was out of his mind fast. And our 400 free relay doesn't make the top eight without him doing what he did."

Meyer and Raseman also shined in the 500 free, with Meyer placing fifth at 4:47.25 and Raseman placing sixth at 4:47.48.

Earlier in the meet, Meyer placed seventh in the 200 free (1:47.95), as he was a three-time All-State honoree.

"I wasn't at all sure what Brayden and Liam Raseman would have left on Saturday (after prelims on Friday), but I shouldn't have allowed myself to worry," Belton said. "They each dropped at least three more seconds. What a freaking race they put on.

"And it was especially difficult for both as Raseman had to swim the extra 200 Friday and Brayden had the extra 200 on Saturday when he swam in the finals. Wow."

Like Smith, Plainwell senior Sam Harper finished his career as a state champ.

Harper won the 500 free with a time of 4:32.14, re-breaking his own school record and giving him back-to-back titles in the event.

Harper was also All-State in the 200-yard free (1:41.24), placing fourth.

Senior teammate Aidan Ranger nearly snagged All-State as well, placing ninth in diving with a score of 323.3.

The top eight in each event are All-State.

Speaking of diving, Hamilton shined in that event. Senior Brody Brown finished his career by placing third with a score of 386.55. Junior teammate Jayden Bierschbach was one spot behind with 374.15 points.

The Hawkeyes also received a seventh-place finish from Jack Langland in the 100 free (48.63).

For Wayland, Eddie Oudbier placed seventh in the 200 IM at 2:01.7. Oudbier garnered a second All-State showing in the 200 free relay, teaming with Ethan Manning, Alex Hubbard and Justin VanDyke to place seventh at 1:30.02.

Allegan, meanwhile, had one All-State effort, as Oliver Burnett was fifth in the 100 free at 47.76.

Otsego girls fall in regional finals

By Jason Wesseldyk

OTSEGO—History.

That's what the Otsego girls basketball team was chasing when it hosted South Christian for a Division 2 regional title game on Wednesday, March 11.

Because with a win, the Bulldogs would claim the first regional championship in program history.

Unfortunately, the top-ranked and unbeaten Sailors had other ideas.

South Christian opened the game by outscoring Otsego 12-5 in the opening quarter and the Sailors never surrendered the lead, ultimately collecting the 67-38 win to bring an end to the Bulldogs' season.

While disappointed with the loss, Otsego coach Tony Koshar chose to focus on the many positives from a season that saw the Bulldogs go 20-3 overall and 14-0 in Wolverine Conference play.

"I thought the girls felt a decent amount of pressure to win districts and get to Otsego for regionals," he said. "And although it wasn't always pretty, we did a great job of fulfilling almost all of our goals.

"We were undefeated in the conference in a year where four Wolverine teams won district championships, which obviously led to the conference championship and we won a district championship. That's to be proud of for a long time."

Koshar also had high praise for Audrey Lingbeek, the lone senior on this year's roster.

"I want to give Audrey a lot of credit for where we ended this season," Koshar said. "Her leadership and competitive nature rubbed off on the whole team all year long. She had a great four-year varsity career, which she concluded with two All-Conference honors and leading the way for us in regionals in both games."

Lingbeek, who will continue her athletic career on the softball diamond at Western Michigan University next year, led Otsego with 14 points.

Mya Engbers joined her in double figures with 12 points, while Brooke Smalldon added seven to go with team highs for eight rebounds and five assists.

Smalldon was named First Team All-Conference, while Engbers and Madden Fitzpatrick garnered Second Team honors and Lingbeek was Honorable Mention. Koshar was voted Wolverine Conference Coach of the Year.

South Christian showed why it came into the game at 25-0, as Lizzie Wolthuis and Sophia Prins each scored 18 points to go with 13 for Abby Prins.

After building its seven-point lead at the end of the first quarter, the Sailors went up 27-16 at halftime. The Bulldogs kept the deficit at 11 into the final minute of the third stanza at 41-30.

But after scoring, the Sailors got the ball back and hits a 3-pointer to extend the lead to 16 points, making an Otsego comeback less likely.

Another triple by South Christian to open the fourth frame made it a 19-points game at 49-30.

"South Christian is a great team and they really shot the ball well against us," Koshar said. "I feel like the final score wasn't really reflective of the game, as we trailed by 11 with under a minute left in the third quarter.

"Give South credit for how they closed the third quarter and opened the fourth. After that, we tried to pick up our pressure game—which we hadn't done much of as we didn't think it would be too effective against them—and they were able to pull away to the final outcome.

"Ultimately, we had some great opportunities early in the game at the rim and didn't take advantage of them. When you're playing the No. 1 team in the state, that's not a recipe for success."

Koshar was proud of the fight his team showed.

"We did show our grit and resolve as we stuck around and kept the pressure on them to perform," he said. "That was a microcosm of the whole year as we displayed that in coming back from a few double-digit deficits and just handling the switch from hunter to hunted during the season."

It's hard to image having a better high school swimming career than the one put together by Otsego senior Liam Smith.

Competing at the Division 3 State Finals on Saturday, March 14, Smith won state championships in both the 200-yard IM and the 100-yard butterfly. That gave him a total of seven state titles to go with one runner-up finish (as a freshman) at the Finals.

ALLEGAN

As she enters her first season as head coach at Allegan, Danielle Brodhagen said the team has one primary focus.

"We're focusing on being women of integrity," she said.

Because if the players on the team approach everything with integrity, Brodhagen believes success will eventually come.

"We have the 'we get to play' attitude and we are not taking this sport for granted," she said. "If we commit to the work, grow every day and lead with character, success will follow.

"We are ready to lay the foundation for a great Allegan Tiger softball legacy."

In the short time she has worked with the team, Brodhagen has already seen progress.

"We are a young team, but we're committed to playing together and playing to win," she said. "We have already seen growth in a short time."

This year's roster doesn't include any seniors, meaning younger players will have to step up.

Adrianna Fee, Isabelle McGowen and Maia Perez are the three juniors. Sophomores Ella Jones, Brooklyn Klok, Alexis McCoy, Allea Pinnell, Annabell Roden, Sophie Schuyler, Vala Strong and Alaina Termeer join freshmen Sophie Nichols, Brooklynn Raber, Tessa Ritzema and Zoey Thayer in rounding out the team.

"We are still earning positions at this time and the best players will lead the position that best fits them and the team," Brodhagen said. "I have not personally seen our contenders in our conference, but we will come to compete and have fun in every game we play."

FENNVILLE

Ambitious. Hardworking. Eager.

Those are the adjectives second-year Fennville coach Meri Sanchez used to describe her team as it prepares to head into the 2026 campaign.

"Our goal this season is to grow each game, build confidence and continue developing a strong foundation for the program," said Sanchez, who guided the Blackhawks to a 14-17 record a year ago.

Although the roster does include four seniors, the squad will be young overall. As there is no JV team this year, four freshman and three sophomores will be among the team's 15 players.

"Our team is young this year and with only a varsity team, we'll be relying on many players to step into bigger roles," Sanchez said. "I believe our strength this season will be our ability to get the ball in play, as well as our players speed.

"Another strength for our team is versatility in positions with some of our younger players."

The quartet of pitcher/shortstop Lily Achterhof, utility player Makaihla Steanburg, utility player Reese Anaya and outfielder Rylee Geister make up the senior group.

Juniors Ryleigh Wilson (outfielder), Veda Steward (catcher/outfielder) and Kenzie Mcillwain (infielder) also return, as do sophomores Amiyah Johnson (third baseman/shortstop) and Marynn Winne (center fielder).

Junior outfielder Adriana Hicks and sophomore outfielder Claudia Rasmussen join freshmen Ella Heavilin (first baseman), Hayden Johnson (pitcher/outfielder), Sena Kamekona (first baseman/outfielder) and Stella Michele (catcher) as newcomers.

"With our team being so young, I still believe this is a developmental year," Sanchez said. "That being said, it is our goal to compete in every game."

Sanchez believes the Blackhawks made strides in that area last year.

"One of our biggest accomplishments last year was beating Saugatuck in the first round of districts," she said. "Another accomplishment was being competitive in more games and winning more than we have in years past."

Having Liza Edewaard, a 2019 Hamilton graduate, join the coaching staff should only help the Blackhawks development.

"Liza's strengths include outfield, hitting and bunting," Sanchez said.

HAMILTON

Experienced.

If Hamilton coach Mark Behnke had to choose one word to describe this year's team, that just might be it.

The Hawkeyes return all but two players from a squad that posted a 28-10 record, won a district championship and finished as regional runner-up.

Given the level of experience—and talent—on the roster, Behnke is excited about what the upcoming season could hold.

"I think we will be led by our pitching and hope to create an offensive brand of softball that is exciting," he said.

Senior Kelsey Mersman is expected to lead the pitching staff, with junior Julia Brown and sophomore Bella Goetsch also returning with varsity pitching experience. When not pitching, Mersman will play infield. Brown and Goetsch also play outfield.

Other returning players include the senior tandem of infielder Maleena Luckadoo and Bella Bariuz, junior infielder/outfielder Brooke Petroelje and sophomores Lexi Mersman (infielder), Kendall Cornell (catcher/outfielder) and Sarah Brink (outfielder).

Junior infielder Korinne Shepard joins the freshmen trio of infielder/outfielder Braelyn DeHorn, infielder/outfielder Aliyah Pitsch and infielder Roxy DeVries in rounding out the roster as newcomers.

It's a group Behnke believes is capable of big things, but …

"Until we go out and do it, projections live in the theoretical," he said. "If we want to go deeper into the state tournament, we will have do those things which we've never done."

Before getting to the state tournament, the Hawkeyes will focus on the OK Black, which should include many competitive battles.

"Our conference is wide open," Behnke said. "We hope to be team that can compete with the OK Black's best."

HOPKINS

A familiar face will be guiding Hopkins this year.

After eight years away from the dugout, Casey Schoenborn is returning for her second stint as head coach for the Vikings. She replaces Amy Funk, who led the team to a 19-15 record last year, resigned the post after agreeing to be head coach of the Hopkins varsity volleyball team.

And from what she's seen so far, Schoenborn believes Hopkins has a chance to put together a very successful season.

"We have a great group of players who are willing to learn," she said. "We are going to be competitive and we have tons of potential."

Five returning players lead the way, led by the senior duo of infielder Kelsey Burgess and infielder/outfielder Calleigh Washburn.

Juniors Maddie Veldheer (catcher/infielder) and Gracie Stallard (pitcher/infielder) join sophomore utility player McKenna Funk as the other returning players.

Top newcomers who could contribute include junior infielder Leah Williams and freshman pitcher/infielder Jorja Wood.

"We have a lot of versatility amongst players, which should help us as we can mix and match girls at a lot of positions," Schoenborn said.

That should help the Vikings' as they strive to make a mark in the OK Silver standings.

"We're planning at being at the top of the conference," Schoenborn said.

Allegan tennis faces Portage Central, Otsego

By Jason Wesseldyk

PORTAGE—The Allegan girls tennis team got an early look at its 2026 lineup with preseason action at the Maple Street YMCA.

The Tigers faced Division 1-ranked Portage Central as well as former Wolverine Conference rival Otsego in the multi-team event.

"The girls really battled hard against PC and showed some great energy against Otsego," Allegan coach Damien Arthur said.

The format featured two 40-minute windows per flight against each opponent, allowing teams to rotate lineups and gain valuable early-season experience.

Allegan dropped a 7-1 decision to Portage Central, with Madison Cook and Ireland Dewey earning the Tigers' lone win at No. 1 doubles.

Against Otsego, Allegan turned in a strong showing, winning 7-1 overall. Addy Fales (No. 1 singles), Camdyn Drozd (No. 2 singles) and Kendall Halstead (No. 3 singles) each picked up victories, while the doubles teams of Cook and Dewey (No. 1), Hanna Kievit and Taylor Fuller (No. 2), Emma Scheffler and Sophia Augustine (No. 3), and Kaylee Haas and Hailey Gauthier (No. 4) also recorded wins.

Arthur said these matches served as a strong starting point for the season.

"We're off to a great start in the young 2026 season," he said.

MARTIN

There are good things happening with the Martin softball program.

Most notably, the Clippers have enough players to field a JV squad for the first time in more than a decade.

"Our goals for this season are to continue to grow," Martin coach Jazmin Curry said. "We have increased our numbers of participation by a significant amount, which is great to see. We are still going to be pretty young, similar to last year, but we have a strong group of seniors to lead our team."

The senior contingent includes outfielders Eden Suk and Jade Hooper along with third baseman/shortstop/catcher Alley Bacon.

Juniors Malina Adams (catcher), Maggie Sego (second baseman/outfielder), Anna Jager (outfielder) and Mackenzie Schwartz (first baseman/outfielder); sophomores Maybelle Noble (first baseman), Allison Rodgers (pitcher/second baseman) and Milee Schwartz (shortstop/pitcher); and freshmen Kylie Meyers (pitcher/outfielder), Maya Walley (middle infielder), Morgan Thompson (pitcher/first baseman), Noellya Lemus (catcher/outfielder) and Allison Dodds (first baseman/outfielder/pitcher) are also on the team.

With Marybeth Ritchie, the team's starting pitcher last season, out following an injury suffered during basketball, some young players will need to step up in the pitcher's circle.

"A major storyline heading into the season will be the development of the pitching staff," Curry said. "With several young pitchers expected to see significant innings, the team will rely on steady defensive play and strong communication to support them in the circle.

"As the pitchers grow more comfortable at the varsity level, their confidence and command are expected to improve throughout the season."

Offensively, the focus will be on consistency, smart base running and putting pressure on opposing defenses.

"With many underclassmen in the lineup, we are going to be emphasizing fundamentals, situational hitting and team chemistry," Curry said. "The goal early in the year will be steady improvement, gaining experience and competing in every game as the team continues to mature over the course of the season."

In divisional play, Curry sees Gobles and Saugatuck as two of the top teams.

"I think we'll be battling out with those teams like last year," said Curry, who led the Clippers to a second-place finish behind Gobles a year ago.

OTSEGO

There will be many familiar faces on the Otsego roster this season.

That's because of the 11 players expected to comprise the team, nine are returning members of last year's squad.

That level of experience should bode well for the Bulldogs as they hope to improve on last year's 18-18 mark and compete for one of the top spots in the Wolverine Conference.

"We have nine girls coming back from last years, so we will have a solid squad," said coach Jake Knash, who brings a 215-179 career record into the new campaign. "I expect good things from this group. With our leadership and experience, we should be competitive every night."

That experience and leadership starts with the teams five seniors, three of whom have played at the varsity level since their freshman season.

Pitcher/shortstop Audrey Lingbeek headlines that group. Lingbeek has committed to continue her career at Western Michigan University next season.

Third baseman/outfielder Alyvia Farrell, catcher/outfielder Sydneigh Mosher, third baseman/outfielder Maddie Back and outfielder Sophia Pierce are also part of the senior contingent.

Junior first baseman Sophie Staeven joins the sophomore group of catcher/outfielder Mikayla Bateman, second baseman/pitcher Addy Lucas and first baseman/outfielder Emma Zimmerman as the other returning players.

Freshman infielder/pitcher Rylee Knash and junior outfielder Riley Watson round out the roster.

When it comes to the Wolverine Conference, Division 2 state runner-up Paw Paw should be the favorite, according to Jake Knash.

But in district play last year, the Bulldogs proved they could go toe to toe with Paw Paw, as Otsego took the Red Wolves to 10 innings before suffering the 2-1 loss.

"Paw Paw is probably the conference favorite, but I think we will have a handful of teams fighting for top spots," Coach Knash said. " And we finished strong against them in districts. We will build from that."

PLAINWELL

Steady progress.

That's what Don Seibert has witnessed in his six years as coach for Plainwell, as the Trojans win total as steadily improved.

If that upward trend is to continue this year, then several young players will need to step up and fill the void left by the graduation of five starters, who of whom were All-District selections.

Rae Stallard is one of several seniors who will lead the way for the Wayland softball team this year. (File photo)

But rather than feeling anxious about the prospects of fielding such a young team, Seibert is excited about the team's potential.

"This is a young team with a lot of talent," he said. "I expect the girls to move base runners to produce runs. We need to focus on the little things to be in games to stay in games and get a win each night.

"The girls are showing they can hit the ball and that has to continue into games. The girls are excited and prepared for a tough competitive season."

The five retuning players for the Trojans include juniors Paityn Holbrook (outfielder), Taya Miller (infielder), Tatem Johnson (infielder/outfielder) and Miley Cooper (outfielder). Sophomore pitcher/outfielder Claire Bradley is also back.

First-year seniors Kassie Wanamaker (catcher/infielder), Grace Sullivan (outfielder) and Bella McNett (outfielder) join juniors Lizzie Milliman (infielder) and Addie Gillies (infielder) and freshman Bri DeSmit (catcher/infielder), Madison Wheaten (pitcher) and Kaelyn Seibert (pitcher/infielder) as newcomers.

It's a group that has plenty of speed and versatility, according to Don Seibert.

"This is one of the quickest teams Plainwell has seen in the past few years and there a several girls who can play a variety of positions," he said. "The girls are showing they can put the ball in play and work as a team.

"We have young pitchers, but if they can it spots, we will be in games."

Don Seibert believes Paw Paw, which finished runner-up in Division 2 last year, should be the team to beat in the Wolverine Conference along with Edwardsburg.

"Those two teams continue to be powerhouses," he said. "With a young team, we need the bats to be strong make plays in the field to compete. Our goal is to stay in the middle of this conference for the upcoming season."

WAYLAND

Last year, Wayland racked up a 33-8 record that included OK Gold Conference and Division 2 district championships.

In other words, just another year for the Wildcats under the guidance of legendary coach Cheri Ritz.

And with all but two players from that team back again, this year promises to be another enjoyable one for Wayland softball fans.

Senior Madi Ludema leads the list of returning players, as she is the team's top pitcher (2.17 ERA last season) and one of its top hitters (.615 average with a school-record 25 doubles).

Fellow seniors Shelby VanHouten (first base/left field), Mackenzie Kositzky (first base), Rae Stallard (third base), Kaylee Lown (catcher), Laney Wolf (center field) and Kennedy Lown (outfield) are also back.

Juniors Madison Jordan (first base/outfield), Hannah Hoevenaar (first base/outfield), Clara Dutkiewicz (second base), Lauren Page (second base/outfield) and Eme Carlson (shortstop) join sophomore Charity Laker (pitcher/shortstop) and freshman April Gates (pitcher) in rounding out the roster.

"It should be another competitive season for us," Ritz said. "We have six girls who can pitch, which is always nice. We also have a great nucleus of girls returning this season, as we only had two seniors last year."

RELIGION SECTION

A new retirement community is being built in a suburb of Madison, Wisconsin. When it opens later this year it will be known as Agrace's Dementia Village. Instead of the usual design of retirement communities, some of which seem as if they are warehouses for those who are waiting for God, this is a small village setting intended to engage all the senses of the residents and their visitors. It is a true village, with shops and restaurants, parks with benches, solid picnic tables, and opportunities for the residents to participate in the gardening, etc. The whole concept is to create a gentle, idealistic neighborhood out of the past. It is a vast improvement over playing endless games of bingo for small prizes.

Most importantly, like the original memory village in the Netherlands, all of the staff members will be taught how to enter into the lives of their residents. No more aides bursting into a room demanding to know, using a sing-song voice to ask, "And how are WE feeling today?" No treating residents like they are children to be managed, but valued older adults. The staff learns how to fit into the world of the residents.

The concept is fascinating, and a welcome change.

A central theme throughout the Bible, but especially in the teachings of Jesus, is creating and maintaining a high standard of hospitality for others. We read of Abraham welcoming the three guests to his camp, and instructions from God to Moses that the Israelites were to welcome refugees and visitors. St Paul clamped down hard on the Corinthians and told he didn't want to hear about anymore 'brown bag lunches' where people ate the food they brought. Rather, he told them to make it into a potluck dinner where food is shared. Throughout the Gospels Jesus constantly pointed out that how we treat others is a reflection of our faith.

One of the most overlooked or neglected segment of our society are the elderly. Elder abuse is far too common; loneliness is the root cause of most fatal illness among older people. Unfortunately, some retirement communities are little more than sterile facilities with long halls and shut doors. Too often, whether in their own homes or a facility, they are seen as a burden, an expense, a non-contributing semi-person.

This memory community changes the focus and dynamic. It puts an emphasis on treating others as we want to be treated, and embodies the philosophy hospitality. Many people, as they learn of Agrace's Dementia Village in Wisconsin hope to see a growing change to elder care because they know it is an expression of Christ's love for all people.

For The Record

Peek at the Past

From the pages of The Allegan News and The Allegan County News and Gazette:

March 22, 1951

City's first veteran of Korea returns: Marine Private First Class Ray Printup, Allegan's first veteran of the Korean war to return home under the new rotation system, had to travel more than 2,000 miles to find out "what happened" in Korea.

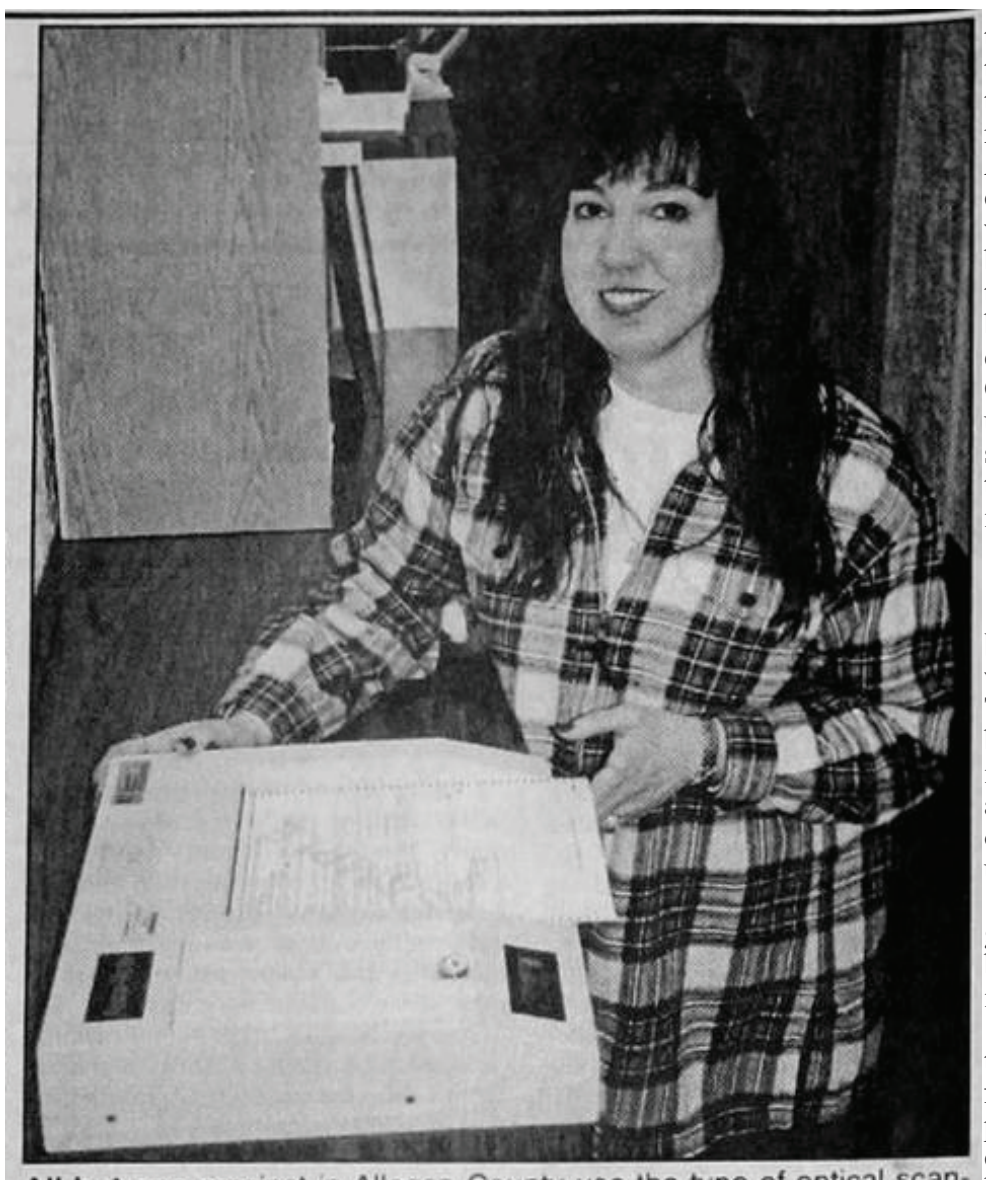
Here in the neat, new trailer home of his father, Gordon Printup, the Marine found a complete scrap-book of the Korean fighting kept faithfully by his father throughout the long months Ray was in Korea.

Ray admitted the scrapbook contained more information on the "big picture" than he, a gunner on an M-26 tank attached to the Fifth Marine Regiment, could tell.

The book was also helpful in supplying the dates of different actions, for men in combat tend to lose track of the days.

"Nothing unusual happened to us," Ray said. Cross-examination was necessary to get him to admit he had lost one tank, when Chinese Reds put out of action with a satchel charge during the withdrawal from Hagaru-ri to Hamhung.

For Ray and the other Marines, that withdrawal will probably remain an unforgettably bitter experience.



All but one precinct in Allegan County use the type of optical scanning voting machines now being considered for purchase in Florida. With a city election looming, Allegan employee Liz Sweeney pulled the optical scanner out of storage. (Photo by Dan Kelsey)

March 18, 1976

Ambulance system expands in Plainwell: A newly installed radio system in both Plainwell Ambulance vehicles allows medical technicians to talk directly with a doctor while the ambulance is rushing to the hospital.

Called the HERN (Hospital Emergency Radio Network) system, the radio allows an ambulance driver to dial a six-digit number that will connect him with any hospital in the state that has a HERN receiver.

"It's a great system," says Plainwell Ambulance owner Chester Walker. "We've only had it in three weeks, though, and we've still got a lot to learn."

Installation of the HERN system was completed in cooperation with Pipp Community Hospital in Plainwell, though Pipp has yet to complete installation of its end of the system.

"We worked together in applying for the grant that pays for Pipp's equipment," Walker said. "If we hadn't agreed to buy and install the equipment ourselves, the hospital wouldn't have gotten the grant."

In Allegan, Allegan Ambulance and Allegan General Hospital are working toward the same goal, though Hospital Administrator Wendell Trent said approval of the grant is "overdue."

The equipment should be installed by mid-summer, according to Trent.

Walker said that before the HERN was installed, communication between an ambulance and the hospital was second-hand.

March 22, 2001

County boasts uniform voting: Voting officials around Allegan County may be heard on occasion to utter the modest wish that all districts and states across the country employed as consistent practices in elections as here. Polling in Allegan County takes place with standard equipment almost across the board. Returns, even in major elections, come to the courthouse and are posted in a timely fashion.

In the wake of a national election rendered indecisive due to inconsistent voting methods from place to place across Florida, Allegan County elections clerk Marcia Augustyn hoped the trend would not continue. Chads and dimples aside, voting by mail becomes more prevalent and voting by Internet is in the offing. Augustyn struck a cautious note about the future of voting.

"I would hope that the new system, whatever it turns out to be, would move more toward consistent methods," she said.

Allegan County counts 40 precincts in its 24 townships and seven cities. Augustyn said all but one of these precincts use automatic ballot reading machines. Known as Accu-vote, these machines read and count with electronics the ballots voters feed into their maws, storing the ballots for future reference. The Allegan County clerk's office urged cities and townships to adopt the use of the Accu-vote system in the mid 1990s.

Allegan girls win bowling regional, advance to state finals: The Allegan girls' bowling team entered its Division 2 regional at Continental Lanes on Saturday, March 20, unbeaten for the season.

The Tigers left regionals with that unblemished record still intact.

Posting a four-game total of 3,471, Allegan finished more than 200 pins ahead of its closest competitor to take top honors in the 13-team field and qualify for the state finals.

Byron Center claimed the second state-qualifying slot with a total of 3,253, while Wayland finished 23 pins away from qualifying by placing third at 3,230.

Plainwell was fourth at 3,164 and Otsego was sixth at 3,107.

"It was exciting for us as coaches to watch a rare event happen for such a great group of young ladies," said Don Lamb, who coaches the Allegan bowling teams along with his wife Tonia. "They have made us so proud.

"We might not be their parents, but they are our kids when we watch them."

Despite what appeared to be a comfortable margin of victory, the Tigers trailed Byron Center by 13 pins (2,558-2,545) entering the fourth and final game.

But Allegan bested Byron Center 926-695 in game four to cruise to the regional title, breaking a school record for highest single-game score. That broke a record that had stood for one game, as Allegan posted a 921 in the third game to shatter the previous record of 880.

Leah Snyder paced Allegan in game four with a 201, while Savannah Belfuss was close behind at 200. Harleigh Wesche had her best game of the day at 180.

CHESHIRE TOWNSHIP
ALLEGAN COUNTY, MICHIGAN

2026-2030 EAGLE LAKE IMPROVEMENT PROJECT
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON PROPOSED 2026-2030 SPECIAL ASSESSMENT ROLL AT MARCH 26, 2026 RESCHEDULED REGULAR MEETING
(RESCHEDULED FROM MARCH 17, 2026)

TO: THE RESIDENTS AND PROPERTY OWNERS OF THE EAGLE LAKE IMPROVEMENT SPECIAL ASSESSMENT DISTRICT ENCOMPASSING ALL LANDS ABUTTING EAGLE LAKE OR HAVING DEEDED ACESS TO EAGLE LAKE IN CHESHIRE TOWNSHIP, ALLEGAN COUNTY, MICHIGAN; AND ANY OTHER INTERESTED PERSONS:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE the Supervisor/Assessing Officer of Cheshire Township has reported to the Township Board and filed in the office of the Township Clerk for public examination a proposed 2026-2030 special assessment roll/special assessment column in the regular tax roll pertaining to the Eagle Lake Improvement Special Assessment District prepared pursuant to the Resolution Approving Plans and Cost Estimates for 2026-2030 Improvement Project adopted by the Township Board at the February 17, 2026 meeting following the public hearing held at that meeting on the proposed plans and costs.

The proposed special assessment roll prepared pursuant to the February 17, 2026 Township Board Resolution proposes to allocate the costs of an aquatic vegetation control project for 2026-2030 in the approximate total amount of $96,793 over the five-year project to the various lots and parcels within the Special Assessment District pursuant to a benefit factor of 1.0 for each lot/parcel abutting Eagle Lake, and a benefit factor of 0.5 for each lot/parcel with deeded access to Eagle Lake. The proposed costs for the project include a 5% contingency and administrative and legal expenses incurred by the Township in connection with the special assessment process.

A public hearing on any objections to the proposed 2026-2030 special assessment roll as prepared by the Assessor pursuant to Township Board direction in the Resolution adopted at the February 17, 2026 meeting, and as may be revised by the Township Board as discussed below, will be held at the Cheshire Township Hall at 471 41st Street, just north of 104th Avenue in Cheshire Township, Michigan, on March 26, 2026, in conjunction with a rescheduled regular meeting of the Township Board (rescheduled from March 17) beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Subsequent to the February 17, 2026 Township Board meeting the Township Clerk and Township Attorney conducted a detailed review of the status of the Eagle Lake SAD accounting fund, in anticipation of closing-out the accounting for the 2021-2025 project after collecting the special assessment revenues for the last year of that project, and determined that by mid-year 2026 that accounting fund will have an accumulated net surplus of approximately $41,750 from the 2021-2025 project and all prior 5-year Eagle Lake improvement projects going back to 2006. The Township Board may choose to apply this entire anticipated accumulated surplus towards the costs and expenses of the 2026-2030 improvement project and therefore reduce the new revenue necessary to cover the above-estimated costs/expenses of the 2026-2030 project from approximately $96,793 to approximately $55,043.

The Township Board will therefore consider at the March 26, 2026 meeting the proposed 5-year special assessment roll for the 2026-2030 project prepared by the Assessor in response to the direction of the Township Board in the Resolution adopted at the February 17, 2026 meeting, and will also consider at the March 26, 2026 meeting revising that proposed special assessment roll so as to levy no special assessments for the last two years of the 5-year special assessment roll for the 2026-2030 project.

If the Township Board approves the original proposed special assessment roll prepared by the Assessor pursuant to the Board direction in the Resolution adopted at the February 17, 2026 meeting, the resulting total amount of approximately $96,793 will be specially assessed against each lot/parcel of land within the Eagle Lake Improvement Special Assessment District as follows:

- $1,290.58 for each lot/parcel abutting Eagle Lake in Cheshire Township (with all contiguous lots/parcels in the same ownership specially assessed as one benefit unit), levied and payable in five equal annual installments of $258.12 in each of years 2026-2030.

- $645.29 for each lot/parcel with deeded access to Eagle Lake in Cheshire Township (with all contiguous lots/parcels in the same ownership specially assessed as one benefit unit), levied and payable in five equal annual installments of $129.06 in each of years 2026-2030.

If the Township Board approves a revised proposed special assessment roll as indicated above, the resulting total amount of approximately $55,043 will be specially assessed against each lot/parcel of land within the Eagle Lake Improvement Special Assessment District as follows:

- $733.91 for each lot/parcel abutting Eagle Lake in Cheshire Township (with all contiguous lots/parcels in the same ownership specially assessed as one benefit unit), levied and payable in three equal annual installments of $244.63 in each of years 2026-2028; and a special assessment of $0.00 on each such lot/parcel in both of years 2029 and 2030.

- $366.95 for each lot/parcel with deeded access to Eagle Lake in Cheshire Township (with all contiguous lots/parcels in the same ownership specially assessed as one-half benefit unit), levied and payable in three equal annual installments of $122.32 in each of years 2026-2028; and a special assessment of $0.00 on each such lot/parcel in both of years 2029 and 2030.

If the Township Board approves a 2026-2030 special assessment roll at the March 26, 2026 meeting, whether as originally prepared, or as revised, the annual special assessments are subject to a redetermination by the Township Board on a yearly basis as may be necessary to account for the actual incurred costs and any relevant legal/administrative expenses, as compared to the estimated costs and expenses (and, if applicable, to account for the actual surplus from the improvement projects in prior years, as compared to the presently anticipated surplus). Unpaid special assessments will be subject to interest at a rate to be determined by the Township Board but not exceeding 8.0% per annum.

The proposed 2026-2030 special assessment roll, and the project plans, estimate of costs, the boundaries of the Eagle Lake Improvement Special Assessment District, and the Resolution of the Township Board adopted at the February 17, 2026 meeting directing the Supervisor/Assessing Officer of the Township to make the proposed Special Assessment Roll, may be examined at the office of the Township Clerk and may further be examined at the public hearing.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE THAT APPEARANCE AND PROTEST AT THIS HEARING IS REQUIRED IN ORDER TO APPEAL THE AMOUNT OF A SPECIAL ASSESSMENT TO THE STATE TAX TRIBUNAL. AN OWNER OR PARTY IN INTEREST OR HIS OR HER AGENT MAY APPEAR IN PERSON AT THIS HEARING TO PROTEST A SPECIAL ASSESSMENT, OR MAY FILE AN APPEARANCE OR PROTEST BY LETTER WITH THE TOWNSHIP CLERK BEFORE THE CLOSE OF THE HEARING OR WITHIN SUCH FURTHER TIME AS THE TOWNSHIP BOARD MAY GRANT, IF ANY, AND IN SUCH CIRCUMSTANCES A PERSONAL APPEARANCE AT THE HEARING SHALL NOT BE REQUIRED. THE OWNER OR ANY PERSON HAVING AN INTEREST IN THE REAL PROPERTY WHO PROTESTS IN PERSON OR IN WRITING AS PROVIDED ABOVE MAY FILE A WRITTEN APPEAL OF A SPECIAL ASSESSMENT WITH THE STATE TAX TRIBUNAL WITHIN 30 DAYS AFTER THE CONFIRMATION OF THE SPECIAL ASSESSMENT LEVY OR WITHIN SUCH OTHER TIME AS MAY BE ALLOWED BY LAW.

The foregoing hearings and all proceedings associated with these special assessment matters will be conducted in accordance with and pursuant to 1954 PA 188, as amended, the Michigan Open Meetings Act, and any other applicable law.

Cheshire Township will provide necessary reasonable auxiliary aids and services at the meeting/hearing to individuals with disabilities, such as signers for the hearing impaired and audiotapes of printed materials being considered, upon reasonable notice to the Township. Individuals with disabilities requiring auxiliary aids or services should contact the Township Clerk as designated below.
